

Unit Overview

Noah

After God expelled Adam and Eve from the garden of Eden, sin tightened its grip on the human race. Over time, evil and violence only increased, causing God to resolve to destroy human life in a great flood. The Lord extended grace, however, to Noah and His family. By obeying God and building a great boat called an ark, and by entering the ark at God's command before the flood arrived, Noah availed himself of the protection God provided. The ark's beneficiaries included Noah, his family, and a male and female member of every kind of animal. These people and animals were safe, even as God's wrath and judgment prevailed everywhere else on the earth. Noah's story is an important part of God's continually unfolding story, and its lessons help us— young and old alike—respond to God properly today.

Kingdom Perspective

Although God's plan to establish His kingdom experienced a major setback when Adam and Eve sinned, the Lord would reverse sin's impact with His own Son's death and resurrection. Yet, not very long after creation, God judged the world's wickedness by sending a devastating flood. He saved Noah and his family, however, in an ark He told Noah to build. God's salvation for Noah and his family foreshadowed in numerous ways the salvation Jesus would later provide. God's plan to establish His kingdom was continuing to unfold!
